AIN ALONG SCARPE

German Contending Desperately Every Inch Of Ground—Progress Slowly But Steadily Says The Official Statement.

Smashing through the German line in the battlefield of northern Picardy British troops have reached the western and northern outskirts of Baupenne, the town which has been considered the key stone of the enemy line in that sector of the front.

The official statement issued at London today shows slow but continued progress in almost every part of the line from Croisilles far to the north to well below the Somme river. The British are advancing toward Bugnagre, two and one-half miles north east of Baupenne. Nearer the Somme river they have moved eastward along the difficult ground that borders that stream. They are reported east of Banne which is situated on the northern bank of the river and are closing in on Dompiere, which may be the pivot of the German line south of the Somme in the direction of Chaulnes.

Establish Line. British forces are establishing a new line in the northern outskirts of Baupenne according to the official statement issued today at war office.

British Advance. In the great battle in northern Picardy the British have advanced toward the village of Bugnagre, two and one-half miles north east of Baupenne.

There is hard fighting around Croisilles, further north, the official statement says. Since last Wednesday the British have taken 21,000 prisoners. The British have pushed through the town of Montauban, three miles north of the Somme and capturing the ruins of that place have reached Logueval.

Australian forces have made substantial progress toward Compiere, south of the Somme and east of Suzanne, north of the river.

2,000 Germans Taken. In their advance in the region of Montauban, British and Australian troops captured more than 2,000 prisoners, the ads newspapers say.

Gain Two and One-Half Miles. On a front of six miles south of the Somme the British have gained a further depth of two and one-half miles. No Germans remain in Baupenne, says the correspondent of The Mail on the British front. He adds that British patrols have penetrated the ruins which marked the former enemy's advanced concentration center.

North of the Scarpe river Scottish troops have been fighting against the Germans last night and have advanced toward Ploisval, the statement says.

In Striking Distance. The extension of the British line north of the Scarpe has brought the attackers within striking distance of a good part of the Hindenburg line that of which the Germans have boasted for so long. The British are in excellent condition for the movement of tanks and horses.

The British made steady progress today especially on the new section of the front around Baupenne and outside the Somme. German resistance again was stubborn. However it is beginning to look as though the enemy was fighting a losing battle.

The Hindenburg line has been penetrated by British troops at a point east of Houdain.

Along Scarpe River. Troops of Field Marshal Haig to-day are advancing outside the river and are pushing forward south of Baupenne. Elsewhere along the British front their progress also continues.

There has been heavy fighting at Logueval and on the edge of Baupenne where the Germans launched a heavy counter attack with fresh forces brought up especially to this purpose from Sedan.

In the face of this counter attack, the British fell back to the edge of Logueval. In the course of the night the New Zealanders, according to reports, swept around Baupenne and the north and reached the railway just north of the Baupenne-Cambrai road.

Stiff Resistance. The Germans are offering stiff resistance in the neighborhood of Tilloy, south of Baupenne.

Reports have been received from the advance line that British patrol have again entered the outskirts of Baupenne and the hope of a general counter attack between the British and Germans on the edge of the town.

The British have penetrated the Hindenburg line at one point east of Houdain and another point between Baupenne and the Scarpe river and hard fighting is reported to be in progress here. The British advanced line now are reported to be east of Montch-y-Folles.

German guards are fighting to retain their hold on Folves on the south bank of the Scarpe.

(The casualty lists are posted every morning at nine o'clock on the bulletin board at the Gazette office.)

bank of the Scarpe, the British having reached the edge of the town. North of the Scarpe progress is being made by the British on the main axis of the road to Douai. Heavy forces have advanced south of the river. The Germans soon found the ground north of the stream was extremely dangerous. Here they are being forced back, leaving their rear protected with large number of machine guns and are employing the same tactics that they have been using along the rest of the battle front.

MORE GERMAN TAKEN—Additional prisoners have been taken by the British in the region of Baupenne. Their captures of machine guns and material. The German losses still are heavy particularly where enemy counter attacks have been broken up by British forces.

FIGHTING IS DIFFICULT—Extension northward of the fighting line adds to the difficulty and danger of the British in the region of Baupenne. Advance of several miles south of the Scarpe or the winning of the Hindenburg line on a width of any length would virtually outflank all the German positions in Picardy and leave behind the advancing line astride the Scarpe are the hills around Arras from which hundreds of guns pour a devastating fire on the hard pressed Germans.

PENETRATE LINE—Several miles in the rear of the Hindenburg line east of Arras is a French system of trenches and machine guns. It is a formidable line and it is uncertain but it is on a line with no hills behind it. British patrols are reported to have gone into the line and beyond it without being stopped by the enemy. The usefulness of Baupenne as a base has been lost to the Germans and the British artillery have carried it out of their hands for several days.

BITTER FIGHTING—Particularly bitter fighting marks the British progress around Baupenne. On the southern wing the British have taken several miles east of Albert and astride the Somme. West of Peronne the British have moved eastward toward Suzanne and Capry and opposite bank of the Somme Australian troops have advanced toward the river. Canadian units are along the Scarpe in the north. Fighting activity on the French section of the battle line has been constant. North and south of the Hindenburg line, the British have been in hard fighting against German units that were ordered to fight to the last.

AVIATORS ACTIVE—British aviators again have bombed Mannheim and Frankfurt with success, while American bombing machines have bombed Cologne between Metz and Verdun. In aerial fighting the British have shot down three German planes and a fourth British aviator accounted for 38 enemy machines.

ITALIANS BUSY—In Albania the Italians have been driven from Piri and Berat, the most important towns captured in the July offensive. Vienna says Piri was taken after desperate fighting and the Italians suffered heavy loss in men and material. The Austrians then launched an attack at the junction of the Devoli and Tomorica river east of Berat were repulsed, the French afterward withdrawing slightly to maintain contact with the Austrians.

PRESSURE MAINTAINED—British pressure is being maintained all along the front from the Scarpe to the Hindenburg line. The British appear as one of the possibilities of the near future. One section of the battle line, the British have advanced through the Hindenburg line but apparently have not progressed east of it on a front of any great width. Important gains have been made astride the Arras-Sedan road and another where the British of Monday will place the northern wing of the British attacking army on ground virtually unscathed by fighting.

RESISTANCE STUBBORN—German resistance continues to be stubborn but it is believed the enemy is fighting rear guard action in the hope of checking the British line. The British are getting on a new defensive line probably north and south through Peronne.

Divisions which have stood the blunt of the fighting for several days are still in the line.

Shipyard Workers Demand Boost in Wages; General Strike May Tie Up Work

Washington, Aug. 27.—The demands of shipyard workers of the country for a wage of $1 an hour, with double time for holidays and overtime and a gain in the Saturday bonus, precipitated today when it was learned that the shipbuilding labor adjustment board, to whom the demand was referred, will confer with President Wilson, late this afternoon. The board has had the demands under consideration for more than a week. It is believed that the members fear a general strike if the men are turned down. While members of the board refused, today, to state the object of their continuing deliberations, it is believed that they will ask him to issue a personal appeal to the men to remain at work as a patriotic duty, pointing out that the war effort is being hampered by their strike and calling to their attention the grave results that would follow a cessation of their work.

JULY 1, 1919 DAY SET FOR BONE DRY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Nation wide "bone dry" prohibition, effective July 1, 1919, is being celebrated today, at least, loomed today as a strong probability through compromise negotiations in congress.

An agreement for passage of legislation to stop sales of all intoxicating beverages on that date, leaders of both wet and dry factions in the senate stated tonight, seemed to be in sight. President Wilson's appointment of opposing the legislation and senators believed the house would accept the proposal under negotiation. A definite "gentlemen's agreement" in the senate is expected within a few days.

The war-time prohibition bill pending in the senate came up for consideration today under the unanimous consent of the senate. Several weeks ago giving it right of way until disposed of, but was temporarily displaced while the senate proceeded with the support and fighting the prohibition legislation proceeded with the compromise.

As it now stands the bill would stop the sale of intoxicants January 1, next. At President Wilson's suggestion, according to Senator Sheppard of Texas, prohibition advocates agreed to be spokesmen of both factions. The president, it was stated, believes additional time should be given for financial and other adjustments.

In today's negotiations most of the prohibition advocates were agreeable to fixing July 1 as the date. They first insisted that it should be April 1, but a majority were said to have consented to the later date. Opponents of the legislation were declared to be convinced that it cannot be defeated, and are now satisfied with the proposed extension of time.

Formal conclusion of an agreement is expected to pave the way for passage of the bill by the senate late this week or early next week.

FRENCH ARE ONCE MORE ADVANCING

FRENCH ARMY RENEWS ITS DRIVE AGAINST GERMAN LINE NORTH OF SPIONS.

DRIVE ON NEAR ROYE

Several Strong Counter Attacks Repulsed—Mangin Advances Line About Three-Fourths Of A Mile—600 Prisoners.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] French troops are once more advancing near Roze. The official statement issued at Paris tells of success near St. Mar and about six miles southwest of Roze. Many German counter attacks were repulsed in this region. Between the Ailette and the Aisne the French have repulsed German counter attacks and advanced their line about three-fourths of a mile in the district east of Bagneux. This advance should bring General Mangin's armies nearly north of the town of Juvigny, which appear to be important from a defensive point of view.

Not Demoralized. There is little indication however, that the German armies are demoralized in the battle that is going on near Roze. The Germans are fighting bravely and to be compelling the British and French to extend themselves to the limit. This resistance was vigorous in the region of Roze and in the north in the Coteau and Scarpe rivers where the British attacked yesterday morning.

Take Fresnoy. The French have taken Fresnoy and St. Mar. 600 prisoners and many machine guns also were captured. From Roze through Noyon to the Ailette French pressure is being maintained. Between the Ailette and the Somme the Prussian guard has not repeated its vain attack again. The French artillery bombardment continues along the Aisne and American gunners have destroyed several enemy ammunition dumps on the north of the river.

French Gain. Paris, French troops advanced this morning in the region of St. Mar southwest of Roze, after having repulsed a number of enemy attacks in that sector, according to official statement issued today. They have captured 1100 prisoners, including two battalion commanders, the statement says. East of Bagneux, north of the Aisne the French have advanced their line about three-quarters of a mile, the statement says. German counter attacks were repulsed in this region.

ATTY. GENERAL HAVEN RULES ON JUSTICE CASE

Madison, Aug. 27.—If a justice of the peace does not qualify within a reasonable time after his re-election the office becomes vacant and the town board can make the appointment. This is the opinion of Attorney General Haven in a letter to District Attorney D. K. Allen of Oshkosh today. Allen claims that a man has been elected as justice of the peace in 1916 and re-elected in 1918. He qualified the first time but has refused to qualify the second time, claiming that he can hold the office until a successor has been elected and qualified. The question was put up to Attorney General Haven, who holds the office vacant and directs it to be filled.

GERMAN SOLDIERS ARE ANXIOUS FOR CHANGE OF POWER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] With the American Army in France, Sunday, Aug. 25.—The idea of a change in the form of government in Germany seems to be taking place in the thoughts of many German soldiers, judging from remarks made by prisoners. One of those who has expressed his opinion is a soldier from Baden. He said he and his comrades had had more war than they wanted, and hoped that as soon as the war was over, Germany would become an independent republic.

More Alsacians have been captured by the British. One of them said he had refused to fight and had been taken by force, and since then has been mostly in the front lines.

Germans Hopelessly Trying to Explain the Unfavorable Situation

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Amsterdam, Aug. 27.—German war experts are hopelessly at odds in trying to explain the trying situation on the western front. Twice each day General Ludendorff's communique announced "victorious repulses," but a glance at the map shows each successive day mentioned that the scene of fighting lies a few miles further eastward. "This," says the Hamburg Nachrichten military expert, "is a bad sign for the enemy, because it shows his attempt to pierce the German front has failed and that he seeks to substitute width for depth." He further argues that the earlier German advance toward Amiens forestalled the enemy.

GOVERNOR DENIES HE OPPOSED WAR

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 27.—Emphatic denial was registered by Governor Emanuel L. Philipp in his Appleton address Monday night that he had ever sent any telegram to any member of congress on the subject of either the declaration of war or an embargo. He said: "I have never sent any telegram to any member of congress on the subject of the declaration of war nor did I ever send one requesting an embargo." The governor said it is only reason for regret that the matter was the fact that statements which were untrue were being circulated by political opponents to the effect that he had sent such telegrams.

The governor also discussed the new draft law at his Appleton meeting. He said in part: "There is no doubt that the call will demand many sacrifices. Sacrifices not only on the part of the men who must answer the call to war, but sacrifices by men who will not be called to arms. It is the duty of the nation and aid with their labor in solving the problem of the furnishing of labor to the industries which supply the sinews of war and furnish the material which the army needs in the field. It will also mean some inconvenience to the people not called for they will have to meet the changed conditions, but the people must realize that this inconvenience is a part which each must bear in doing his bit for the country and aiding the nation to win a righteous victory. I am sure we are all willing to do that bit and that we will all cheerfully take up any work or any demand which the new draft may impose upon us."

The meeting of Governor Philipp at Appleton was one of the largest political meetings ever held in the city. It was held in the afternoon at Appleton and some estimated that the crowd numbered as many as six thousand. The reception committee consisted of fifty prominent men, including the federal authorities, John L. Joquet, A. H. Krugmiller, J. Zneke, D. J. Steinberg, Major McKay.

CAUGHT MAN WHO SHOTELLED LUSITANIA

LIEUTENANT SCHWIEGER, COMMANDER OF SUBMARINE WHICH DESTROYED LUSITANIA, TAKEN PRISONER BY FRENCH PATROL BOAT.

BRITISH SHIP SUNK

Was Second in Command of U-Boat Which Had Just Destroyed British Vessel and Was Watching it Sink.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Paris, Aug. 27.—Lieutenant Schwieger, the man who sunk the Lusitania, has been captured by a French patrol boat in the Mediterranean. According to the La Journal a large submarine of which he was second in command had just torpedoed a British steamer between Malta and Sicily.

Watched Boat Sink. The German U-boat was waiting to see the vessel sink when two French patrol boats emerged from the fog and sunk the U-boat. Of the crew of seventy-five only one officer and four men were rescued by the patrol boat. While being taken to Toulon the officer appeared ill at ease. When he thought no one was looking he tried to throw some papers overboard but a sailor seized his arm. He refused to answer questions but an examination of the papers explained his uneasiness.

Regarding Punishment. The Journal asked if the man who committed the "most vile, the most barbarous and the most cowardly act in the annals of war" is nearly to be sent to a prison camp.

May Be Insane. A dispatch from Toulon last Friday which described the sinking of the German submarine in the Mediterranean by patrol boats added the note of the submarine attempted to commit suicide was brought on board a rescue ship. The man appeared to be insane and was reported to have declared that the last thing he had in mind was to torpedo the Lusitania. The German admiral according to reports from London August 10, has admitted that Lieutenant Schwieger was killed when his U-boat was captured and struck a mine in the North Sea. The dispatch said his death occurred in September, 1916.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Aug. 27.—The annual mission festival of the First Lutheran church was held on Sunday and was a success in every way. A cantata, "The Harvest is Ripe," was rendered by the choir under the direction of Miss Anna Garrison. The Rev. G. C. Wauke, pastor of the church, spoke in the morning and Rev. John Halverson of Rockville preached in the afternoon. The church at both services was filled and the offerings were much larger than in previous years.

The marriage of Miss Beanie Irene Talbot and Elmer Carlson, occurred Saturday at the home of Rev. G. C. Wauke. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Anna Talbot and the groom is the son of C. Carlson. Both young people have made this city their home and their lives will be lived at the Talbot home on Newcomer street.

Lieut. Walter Behre is spending a week at home before going to Fort Huachuca, New Mexico, as instructor in trench warfare. Although he has seen much service overseas he is not permitted to tell of it. He is now being sent to Fort Huachuca as instructor in trench warfare.

Mrs. Adeline Tossine, Melvin and Doris are visiting for two weeks at Mason city, Iowa. They had been at Elkhorn, Saturday, to register and made a short visit home.

Herschel Conrad, who is working in Detroit, was another local boy who had to register in Elkhorn, Saturday. Vernon Arnold is home for a short visit, before going to Reedsburg, to teach. He has been in the government agricultural works at Fargo, N. Dak., the summer.

Miss Gertrude Channing had her hand quite seriously burned Saturday from a squirt of hot metal from the linotype at the Register office. No Janesville papers arrived here last evening, except the Dollar Day edition.

SINGLE DRUNK IN COURT GIVEN STIFF SENTENCE

Municipal court room this morning was a rather vacant place. Instead of the coterie of drunks to file into the room when court opened, only one all-time regular had to answer to the intoxication charge. He was John Lawrence, a familiar figure in court, who was given the opportunity by Judge Maxwell to stay sober for about three months. He was sentenced to $25 and costs and ten days flat, or eighty days in the county jail.

The case of Oliver Grant, proprietor of the "Canned Apple" hotel, who is charged with selling liquor to minors will come before the court tomorrow for trial.

GERMANS FAR BELOW RATS IS ESTIMATION OF YANKEE SOLDIERS

SERGEANT LEO FLANERY SAYS IN LETTER IT WOULD BE INJUSTICE TO RATS TO CLASS THEM WITH BOCHES.

IS WITH COMPANY M

Sergeant Flanery, Is One of Few Janesville Soldiers Still With Old Company M At Front In France.

"I could have got the rat with my pistol, but I didn't say not to shoot unless at a Boche and it would be awful to class a rat with a Boche," says Serg. Leo Flanery, Company M soldier, writing from a dugout in the front line trenches. He is not one of the welcome to the Yankee fighters, and the king expresses the wish that he could shake hands with each one of them.

Private Booth recently arrived overseas with the division which completed training at Camp Custer, Michigan. A number of Janesville soldiers are with this unit.

King George's letter is in his own handwriting, written on stationery which bears the royal coat of arms and the words "His Majesty King George V." The letter reads:

"Soldiers of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your share in the great struggle for human freedom. The Allies will gain new heart and spirit in your courage and the hand of each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission."

While we were back training we found the company J. Groat was attached to, but he was not around then. We didn't have much time to see him. I missed him, for I surely would have been glad to see him.

How is everything coming at home? Are there many changes taking place? Any new factories or other buildings or is it the same old town?

I am writing this letter in my dugout. It is Sunday night, the hour of silence. The weather is fair, signs of a clear night and a good day tomorrow. You will excuse me a minute, for there is one of those old rats crawling around in my reserve rations, making a raid on my reserve rations.

Well, I saved my rations, but missed the rat. I put over a shoe and a piece of meat and the rat was not around. I could have got him with my pistol, but orders say not to shoot unless at a Boche, and I would be awful to class a rat with a Boche.

Leo Flanery, Company M, 128th Infantry.

In ten months' time, the American Red Cross has distributed over 6,000,000 knitted articles to our army and navy. These figures are contained in a letter received at the office of the local chapter of the Red Cross, and have been issued by national headquarters in a resume of work completed.

The local chapter has also been notified that the War Industries Board has requested that all chapters secure yarn exclusively through the division bureau of supplies.

The Red Cross has in addition ready for distribution, 1,800,000 sweaters, 134,000 pairs of socks, 384,000 pairs of socks, 1,328,000 pairs of socks, which, with new articles to be made, will meet the more urgent needs of our men during the coming winter.

URGES PEOPLE TO REDEEM W. S. S. PLEDGES

The Gazette has received a letter from the chairman of the Rock County War Savings Committee urging the people who have pledged to buy War Savings Stamps for during the months of July and August and who have as yet not redeemed them to do so before the first of September. Many people in this city have neglected to redeem their pledges simply on account of oversight. This reminder will no doubt make service people feel that the money they have pledged to give them is being used for their benefit.

The letter follows: Janesville, Wis., August 26, 1918.
To the Newspapers of Rock County: We will be grateful to the newspapers if they will request their patrons, who have not redeemed their W. S. S. pledges for July and August, to do so before the first of September. It will help to call attention to their obligation to redeem the pledges. Many have not done so as usual at night.

Chairman W. S. S. Committee.

No Service Thursday: Owing to the absence from the city of the Rev. Henry Willmann there will be no service Thursday morning at the church. Choir rehearsal as usual at night.

On sale at St. Joseph's Convent, identification cards and pocket folders for soldiers and sailors. Also numerous religious articles.

Lake Mills Holds PATRIOTIC SUNDAY

Program of Speakers and Music At Last Sunday Program In Jefferson County Enjoyed by Thousands.

An interesting event took place in the town of Lake Mills Sunday August 25th, when the last of the series of Patriotic Sundays held by the Jefferson County Council of Defense took place. The little city of Lake Mills is the beautiful park in the center of town providing a most convenient place. It is estimated that there were fully six thousand people present.

The program in the course of the day and the musical program was one of the best in the series. The forenoon session had a decidedly religious cast; it began with the singing of America, after which Dr. Henry Faville of Lake Mills gave the invocation. The Rev. D. C. Adams, vicar of the Episcopal church of the Council of Defense and pastor of the Episcopal church of Port Atkinson followed with an eloquent sermon on the need of the life of the Saviour ever before us. He said we must be willing to pay the cost of the love of country with our lives as well as with our money.

While we were back training we found the company J. Groat was attached to, but he was not around then. We didn't have much time to see him. I missed him, for I surely would have been glad to see him.

ASKS THAT VINEY STREET BE WIDENED

M. G. JEFFRIS REPRESENTING GENERAL MOTORS COMPANY APPEARS BEFORE CITY FATHERS LAST EVENING. ALDERMAN CROBIN OBJECTS

WILL INVESTIGATE

Highway Committee Will Investigate Street on Thursday Evening. Mr. Jeffris Claims That Company Won't Be Held Up.

M. G. Jeffris representing the General Motors Company appeared before the city council last evening, and presented a plan for widening Viney street to 40 feet. The council will consider the plan on Thursday evening. Mr. Jeffris claims that the company will not be held up by the city fathers.

Mr. Jeffris stated that in order to do this, that a strip twenty feet long would have to be taken away from Mrs. Bridget Viney. He further stated that the company had made all kinds of offers to Mrs. Viney and even offered to give her almost as much land as she now owns, and in addition to move her house, build a new one, erect a new garage, install water lights, curb and gutter.

Alderman Cronin, a brother of Mrs. Viney, and who is fully acquainted with the situation, jumped to his feet and asserted that it was not square deal, and that he for one would not sanction it. Then came a wordy battle between Mr. Jeffris and Mr. Cronin. Alderman Cronin stated that the company should be given four feet, but Mr. Jeffris emphatically stated that the General Motors Company would not be held up, and that if the city didn't want to take the matter, they should take it.

Mr. Jeffris pointed out what work was going to be done by the new company, and that he was going to make a boulevard and making a boulevard, but Mr. Cronin still insisted that it wasn't fair. Alderman Horn stated that he would like to see the company on the side of the story before they took action.

Alderman Dulin addressed the council, and stated that it looked to him like a very fair proposition, and that he was in favor of ordering the street widened. On a motion of Alderman Dulin, the matter was referred to the Highway Committee, who will make an investigation.

After the reading of the minutes by City Clerk B. Worthington, a communication was read from the Chamber of Commerce relative to the garage situation. It was accepted and placed on file. A communication was received from District Attorney Stanley Dulin, stating that the money used by the two Camp Grant soldiers for the investigation of this city prior to the raid a few weeks ago was advanced by the Mayor, Valentine and Sheriff Whipple, and he requested that the council vote to pay part of the expenses. The matter was referred to the finance committee to investigate.

JANESVILLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE JOINS NATIONAL CHAMBER

LOCAL CIVIC AND COMMERCIAL ORGANIZATION MADE A MEMBER OF NATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

APPOINT COUNCILLOR

Local Organization Will Appoint A National Councillor Who Will Serve As Connecting Link Between Both Bodies.

With the eyes of the business world directed toward Washington, there is added interest in the movement from now on the Janesville Chamber of Commerce will have a voice in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the most representative business organization in the country. According to a notification received by Secretary Green from Elliot H. Goodwin, General Secretary of the National Chamber, the local service of the Chamber of Commerce has been formally elected to membership in the central body, which numbers 1108 commercial and trade organizations. Every state in the Union and our outlying possessions are represented, also the principal American Chamber of Commerce abroad of which London, Paris, Rio de Janeiro, Shanghai are typical.

According to the business sentiment closely following its election to the National Chamber, the Janesville Chamber of Commerce will appoint a National Councillor who will serve as the connecting link between his organization and the National Chamber. Hereafter when policies affecting our commerce are under discussion by the National Chamber, the Janesville Chamber of Commerce will have a chance to express its opinion as one of the main purposes of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is to voice the business sentiment of the country, a particularly important function in these times of war. From time to time referenda are sent out by the National Chamber for the purpose of ascertaining for the benefit of Congress and the President opinion prevailing throughout the country on questions of immediate importance.

In fact, with the country at war, the Janesville Chamber of Commerce expects to obtain assistance from the National Chamber in the form of a weekly General Bulletin which probably contains the freshest and most reliable news of its kind to be secured from any source. The Bulletin will follow the progress of all legislation introduced in Congress affecting business and commerce, and THE NATION'S BUSINESS, the official monthly magazine of the organization.

In addition to the privilege of membership included in the direct service as outlined above, membership also entitles the member to utilize the information bureau of the Chamber maintained at the National Headquarters, to obtain information of direct interest to them. This is a very valuable service having a special Washington representative.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States early pledged the support of business to the war in the most comprehensive and avowed terms. It declared that American business is ready for heavy taxes, is ready to turn over its plants, and to do any and every other thing which the government may require. It has American business behind the war until the last gun is fired.

took up Red Cross work. They will continue to meet during the winter at the Richardson home on Monday afternoons at half past two.

The Misses Margaret O'Brien and Gretchen Frye, N. J. Clark and Goodwin of Chicago, enjoyed a picnic at Delavan lake on Sunday.

Mrs. D. C. Harker of Mineral Point avenue will entertain the Presbyterian church at a picnic supper will be served at half past six, after which the young ladies will do Red Cross work. All eighteen members are expected to attend.

Miss Jennie DeForest of Mineral Point avenue, who has been competing for a war prize for several months, has won the second prize, which was three hundred dollars, for potato bread. This contest is being carried on by the Chicago Tribune.

ALABAMA BOYS ARE HELPING TO HARVEST

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Aberdeen, S. D., Aug. 27.—Alabama boys are helping farmers of the north-west in harvesting their bumper grain crop.

P. J. Holmsted, principal of a high school at Birmingham, Ala., and a brother of Senator John H. Hays, have brought a party of boys north from Alabama.

"We left Birmingham in June after the cry for farm help came from grain districts," said Holmsted. "We did not expect to make money. They are doing their bit." He added that these same boys may lead scores of Alabama boys into the wheat fields in 1919.

Green Bay.—With several fairs in this part of the state discontinued since last year, the Brown county fair, which will be held Aug. 26-27-28-29, will be bigger than any conducted in this section, it is believed. The speed program will bring some of the fastest horses making the county fair circuits, to the starting post.

CORRECTION
The item of Sport Shorts in The Hub City Day ad was incorrectly stated. It should have read "Three sport shirts for $2.00" instead of $1.00 and so this correction is made.

LOCAL SOLDIERS MEET IN FRANCE AT BATHING POOL

How two Janesville soldiers, one the acquaintance, met in France under strange circumstances is related in a letter just received here. Here's the tale:

The scene is a small river in France. Yankee soldiers, swarms of them, were enjoying a cool plunge in the waters of the stream. It was a delight that they could rarely enjoy, and they splashed about much as though they were "kids" again back in the days of the old swimming hole.

Just on one brawny Yank entered the water from one bank, a head bobbed up from beneath the waves—a bald head it was. "Well, I'll—," Bob Clithero—exclaimed the other as he emerged from the water and rubbed his eyes.

Two Janesville soldiers they were, Robert Clithero and William J. ("Billie") Joyce. Both enjoyed and laughed over their meeting all the more because of its unexpectedness. Private Clithero had arrived in France before Private Joyce and it was even unknown to him that the American fighters will be so fortunate as to meet up with old friends in such a unique way as at a swimming pool in France.

Private Clithero and Joyce are both Camp Grant soldiers, both leaving here for camp last fall. Private Joyce had been employed as an embalmer at the Kimball Undertaking parlors, while Private Clithero was in the employ of W. J. Field and company of Chicago.

Paint Store Yellow.
Rhinelander.—A local meat market which had refused to contribute to the county patriotic fund, has been given a coat of yellow paint. This is the first time citizens of Rhinelander or the county have applied yellow paint.

Wheat Bin Breaks.
Neenah.—Bumper crops are being harvested now by Winnebago county farmers. In fact, so "bumpthous" was the wheat crop at the Harry Jones farm, town of Neenah, that a large bin burst under the great weight of the wheat.

Under New Order.
Neenah.—Some of this city's most prominent citizens will come under the new law or tight measure and will be called upon by authorities when that law becomes effective. A list of such men has been compiled at the government employment bureau.

Small Child Killed.
Neenah.—Three weeks after losing her husband, who died of disease, Mrs. Elmer Christensen, formerly of this city, suffered the double affliction of seeing her four year old daughter Lucille, killed before her eyes when a severe storm wrecked their home at Tyler, Minn.

Cut Deliveries.
Neenah.—Local grocery houses have cut free deliveries fifty per cent. since one delivery a day is now being made.

Advance Price.
Neenah.—Ice cream manufacturers here have advanced the price of their product, giving as the reason the increased cost of cream and the scarcity of sugar.

Killed In Action.
Grand Rapids.—City Engineer A. T. Thompson has received information that his brother, Lieutenant M. J. Thompson, was killed in action July 16, probably in the fighting near the Marne, although details cannot be ascertained.

Denounces Platform.
Milwaukee.—District Attorney W. A. Zabel has been interviewed by the Milwaukee Journal in regard to the position of Mayor Van Lear of Minneapolis, in his reputation of the St. Louis platform of the Social Democratic party and has announced that he declines to endorse that platform. It is the duty, Mr. Zabel says, of every citizen of the county to stand by the country in the war.

Investments.
Certain classes of securities are now selling on the market below par, making abnormal interest returns. This is accounted for from the fact that investors have in the past favored securities in war time, and in order to attract investors these abnormal rates are offered on short time securities.

For years we have maintained our farm mortgages at a stable price, with good interest return to the investing public. After the war money will undoubtedly be in excess and interest rates much lower, and investors who have purchased the short time securities will be put to the trouble of re-investing in other securities at a lower rate.

We have handled Western Farm Mortgages for over a quarter of a century. We have proved to be all that we represented them to be and no investor has ever lost a penny through investing with us.

For years we have put his money in these longer term real estate mortgages paying 6% interest will be in much better position regarding his investments.

THREE CO. M. MEN IN HOSPITAL WITH CAPTAIN CALDWELL

WOEDED LOCAL SOLDIERS MEET IN SAME HOSPITAL WITH FORMER CAPTAIN BACK OF LINES.

RUSH BERG WOUNDED

Former Company M Bugler Writes of Being Sent to Same Hospital as Captain Caldwell.

Company M soldiers are comrades in arms on the battlefield—and at this time of violent attacks on the Hun, many of them are meeting again in military hospitals back of the fighting lines.

Announcement was made on August 7 by the Gazette that Captain E. N. Caldwell and two members of Company M, George Stendel and Earl Smith, were lying wounded in the same Red Cross hospital.

Recalled here Saturday night that Corporal Rush A. Berg, former bugler with Company M, is also in the same hospital suffering with a fractured leg.

In a letter to his sister here, Mrs. Roy W. Carter, 215 Pleasant street, Corporal Berg tells of seeing Captain Caldwell at the hospital to which he was taken when wounded.

Corporal Berg had his right leg fractured near the ankle. At the time of his writing he stated that he was able to move about and was eager to meet back with his company at the front. Doctors at the hospital informed him, however, that he would have to be sent to another hospital soon to have his leg treated before it would be able to stand strenuous marches.

Corporal Berg was unable to speak with Captain Caldwell, since his brother Caldwell and his company were bandaged up and was soon to undergo an operation.

"The boys here are happy, well fed, and well taken care of," he writes. "The Red Cross is wonderful. We couldn't be better cared for. We are entertained, too. On two nights a week we see real French opera played at the Grand Theatre and on the other nights we can see our favorite American film stars in the latest moving pictures."

Love in a Hurry

Rosamund's suavity was perfect as she looked Carolyn over pragmatically. "Funny you lot Hall Bonistelle go so far with you, wasn't it? Say, he must have shocked you awfully!"

"Now, see here!" said Carolyn firmly, putting her hand on Rosamund's arm. "There's no use in our bickering like this. Don't you realize that we're in the same boat? Now, you say you don't want to marry Hall. I'd like to be sure, though, before I go any further."

"Oh, you needn't worry," cried Rosamund. "You can have him, so far as I'm concerned!"

Carolyn couldn't keep from smiling now; Rosamund was too much for her. "Oh, thank you very much; but I have other plans for him. And we ought to try to find out what in the world he's up to."

"Do you suppose it could possibly be a joke?" Rosamund asked anxiously.

"It looks to me," said Carolyn, reflecting, "as if somebody had slipped a powder or something into his coffee. Or, it may be a disease. Incontinent insanity, perhaps. No doubt he's going about proposing to everyone today, and—"

Carolyn paused. The door was opening. Mrs. Roylton entered.

CHAPTER VIII.

Mrs. Roylton, in an almost too-vivid shade of purple, was in contrast to the two rather excited women already there, calm, cool and confident. Things were going very well with Renna Roylton; she had a man in her pocket. Renna was getting on thirty-five had struck its warning bell; if she were going to be married again, why not now? Wasn't Hall Bonistelle handsome? Wasn't he well born and bred? Renna had thought him over, and decided to accept him. She entered, therefore, in a most becomingly amiable state of mind, lofty and somewhat detached.

To Carolyn she gave a smiling but suspicious, "Why, hello, Carolyn! You here?" and to Rosamund the quick, unconscious tribute due the natural blonde. Her eyes returned to Carolyn, a little troubled. "I didn't expect to see you again so soon, my dear!" she said.

Rosamund, meanwhile, was staring at the prototype of the portrait which had started the discussion of Hall's intimacies. Carolyn, noticing, introduced her. Rosamund, however, did not interest Renna Roylton so much as did Carolyn herself.

"Where is Mr. Bonistelle?" she asked.

"Oh, he's out—as usual," said Carolyn. "I expect Miss Fisher will attend to you, though."

Mrs. Roylton shrugged her shoulders. "Miss Fisher will hardly do for what I want," she said. "I'm afraid I'll have to see Mr. Bonistelle himself."

Rosamund frowned, but Carolyn only raised her eyebrows.

"Oh, well, I expect Hall will be back before long," said Carolyn.

Mrs. Roylton, placid as a cow, eyed her for a moment, then remarked slowly, meditating, "You call him Hall, don't you? I hadn't known you were so intimate."

"Oh, Lord, yes. I always call him Hall," Carolyn was beginning to be amused.

Rosamund tossed her head and crossed her feet, watching the newcomer sharply.

"Well," said Mrs. Roylton, primly, "I'm delighted that you know him so well, my dear!"

"Well, now I come to think of it, Renna, I don't know that I do know him quite so well as I thought, after all." She exchanged a smile with Rosamund, who laughed aloud, harshly, causing Mrs. Roylton to turn and stare at her.

"I'm afraid I fall to see the joke," she said laughingly. "But of course Hall Bonistelle isn't at all the sort of man one sees through at a glance, you know. He's deep; a very subtle person, in fact. However," she smiled complacently, "I flatter myself that I understand him a little better than I did."

Carolyn shot her a suspicious glance. "Why?" she demanded. "Made any recent discoveries?"

Mrs. Roylton deliberately nodded up and down, and smiled cryptically.

"Oh, I don't know—I fancy he has something on his mind—in fact, I know he has—there's a—well, a sort of crisis—yes, I suppose he would appear a little excited—but of course I really have no business discussing it." "What in the world are you talking about, Renna?" Carolyn exclaimed.

"Why, I'm talking about Hall Bonistelle, of course!"

"Well, you're not saying much." "Never mind, Carolyn, dear, it isn't because I haven't anything to say! You don't expect me to go about repeating things he has said to me in confidence, do you?"

"Oh!" said Carolyn, narrowing her eyes, "then Hall has been confiding in you, too, has he?"

By this time Rosamund was hard on the scent, having almost caught up to Carolyn's suspicions. She said nothing, but her eyes were hot and shining, as she scrutinized Mrs. Roylton's face.

"See here," said Carolyn, now thoroughly interested. "I don't see why I haven't a right to know. I'm a pretty good friend of Hall's—you know that—and I think you ought to be able to trust me."

"Well, it isn't only trusting you—Mrs. Roylton looked significantly at Rosamund, sulkily listening.

"Well, I declare!" said Carolyn calmly. "Renna Roylton, either you're making an awful fool of yourself, or else Hall Bonistelle has actually—"

She got no further. Floeie, head up with a busy air, bustled into the room, carrying a handful of prints. She stopped suddenly, with a fine imitation of surprise, and gazed at Mrs. Roylton.

"Oh, Mrs. Roylton!" she exclaimed. "Why didn't you let me know you were here? I've got your proofs all ready for you. I think they are splendid!"

She handed them over, and approached Carolyn with two other proofs. "Here are yours, Miss Dallys. I'm sorry to have kept you waiting so long."

She returned to Mrs. Roylton. "Oh, how I dread to look at them!" that lady was saying. She was, nevertheless, perusing them hungrily.

Carolyn meanwhile had stridden across the room to Rosamund, and the two girls conspired as Mrs. Roylton lost herself in her portraits.

"Oh, I don't like that one—Really? . . . Why, I look a hundred years old! . . . There! That's more like me. . . . Which one do you like best, Miss Fisher? . . . No, do you? Why, I think it's awful. My eyes are so hard to take right; you don't get the soul in them, somehow. Oh, I think I ought to try another sitting, don't you? . . . Say, where is Mr. Bonistelle, anyway?"

"There came a ring at the telephone. Floeie jumped to snatch up the receiver.

"Hello! . . . Yes . . . Why, what's the matter? . . . Oh, naturally . . . Wait just a minute, please!"

Floeie stopped and held her hand over the transmitter. "Oh, Miss Dallys, would you and Miss Gale mind not talking quite so loud for a minute? I can't hear very well."

There was a long pause, and the three women, all studying Floeie's face, saw a dozen different expressions pass over it in quick succession. Then she spoke again: "Really? Oh, you know, Mr. Bonistelle—well, personally, I loathe them. . . . Oh, I don't know, but a big diamond is so funny, somehow. . . . What? Then: 'Oh, yes . . . well, I know . . . Oh, but it's awful to pawn that! Why, it was your father's, wasn't it? . . . Well, of course you know best . . . Oh, didn't you? Well, I might send it by the junkie . . . where did you leave it? . . . When will you be here? . . . All right, good-by!"

Mrs. Roylton and Rosamund still sat as if entranced, but Carolyn Dallys rose impatiently now, and glanced about as if in search of an excuse. The room was tensely charged with electricity. It was evident that in another minute the explosion must come. But, first, how to get rid of this important, busy little Miss Fisher?

Floeie herself answered the unvoiced question. Wasn't she as desirous as any of them to bring the thing to a head? Yes; so she must fly and leave the field of battle clear. Still smiling, she disappeared into the stockroom. She left the door ajar.

Mrs. Roylton rose, with a self-conscious smile. "Well, Carolyn," she said, "I suppose I'll have to tell you, now. It is most unfortunate that Miss Fisher wasn't more discreet in her conversation. But so long as she has let the cat out of the bag, I might as well inform you that the ring she was talking to Hall about is for this finger!" She held up her left hand, her thumb pointing to her third finger.

Carolyn, with a whoop, fell into Rosamund's arms, and the two laughed until they cried.

Mrs. Roylton stared as if they had suddenly gone mad. Then she exclaimed angrily, "I'd like to know what there is to laugh at! I don't see anything particularly amusing in the fact that I'm going to marry Hall Bonistelle!"

"Oh, don't you?" Carolyn gurgled. "Miss Gale, do you see anything funny in it?"

"Funny! It's a scream!" Rosamund shouted with mirth. "Who'll be the next one?"

"Oh, the more the merrier!" cried Carolyn.

Renna Roylton drew herself up proudly. "I think you're exceedingly impudent!" she replied.

Carolyn dried her eyes on a lace handkerchief. "Renna," she said, still giggling, "I don't know whether it's too true to be funny, or too funny to be true. But you ought to be in on this joke, really, my dear. It will interest you strangely!"

"Well, I don't call it a joke. It's an outrage," cried Rosamund.

"Say, Miss Gale," Carolyn turned confidentially, "if you know, we ought really to form a society of the survivors, you know. Renna's the oldest, and we'll elect her president!"

Mrs. Roylton stared from one to the other, her temper rising. Finally she remarked cuttingly, "I must say, Carolyn, I always thought you were a lady!" and she walked swiftly toward the door.

"Oh, don't go yet!" Carolyn called out. "You've got to laugh coming to you, too, Renna. You haven't heard our news, yet!"

Mrs. Roylton trembled on the threshold. "Your news? What d'you mean?"

"Listen here," said Rosamund, walking over to her coolly. "Hall Bonistelle proposed to Miss Dallys at ten-thirty this morning and he proposed to me at a quarter to eleven. Now, what time did he propose to you?"

Mrs. Roylton put out a hand trembling with appeal. "Carolyn!" she implored.

Carolyn nodded unsympathetically. Mrs. Roylton dropped into a chair.

"Oh, don't you?" Carolyn gurgled. "Miss Gale, do you see anything funny in it?"

"Oh, the more the merrier!" cried Carolyn.

Renna Roylton drew herself up proudly. "I think you're exceedingly impudent!" she replied.

Carolyn dried her eyes on a lace handkerchief. "Renna," she said, still giggling, "I don't know whether it's too true to be funny, or too funny to be true. But you ought to be in on this joke, really, my dear. It will interest you strangely!"

"Well, I don't call it a joke. It's an outrage," cried Rosamund.

"Say, Miss Gale," Carolyn turned confidentially, "if you know, we ought really to form a society of the survivors, you know. Renna's the oldest, and we'll elect her president!"

Mrs. Roylton stared from one to the other, her temper rising. Finally she remarked cuttingly, "I must say, Carolyn, I always thought you were a lady!" and she walked swiftly toward the door.

"Oh, don't go yet!" Carolyn called out. "You've got to laugh coming to you, too, Renna. You haven't heard our news, yet!"

Mrs. Roylton trembled on the threshold. "Your news? What d'you mean?"

"Listen here," said Rosamund, walking over to her coolly. "Hall Bonistelle proposed to Miss Dallys at ten-thirty this morning and he proposed to me at a quarter to eleven. Now, what time did he propose to you?"

Mrs. Roylton put out a hand trembling with appeal. "Carolyn!" she implored.

Carolyn nodded unsympathetically. Mrs. Roylton dropped into a chair.

"Oh, don't you?" Carolyn gurgled. "Miss Gale, do you see anything funny in it?"

"Funny! It's a scream!" Rosamund shouted with mirth. "Who'll be the next one?"

"Oh, the more the merrier!" cried Carolyn.

24-Free Phonograph Record Selections

We recommend and sell the Mandel because we have perfect confidence in the manufacturers who make every part that goes into the phonograph in their own factory. They are strong financially and are in a position to back their guarantee of perfect performance for years to come. Mandels do not assemble phonographs but build them in their entirety, that is a thing practically no other phonograph manufacturer does today, not even the old so-called standard trade-mark machines. The Mandel is worthy of your entire confidence.

GREATEST BARGAIN EVENT--DOLLAR DAY

ONE DAY ONLY--WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 28th

Everybody Remembers Our Last Dollar Day--for in many ways it was the greatest value giving sale ever held in Janesville. It was generally conceded that the class of merchandise we offered was better and the low prices were not duplicated elsewhere in the city for this reason our store was packed from 8 o'clock in the morning till 6 o'clock at night with shrewd buyers.

The Question Has Been Asked will this sale be as good as YOUR LAST and will you have as many and as good Dollar Bargains as before? For this we can truthfully say Without Boasting or Misrepresenting that this sale will not only be as good but much better. There will be more attractive bargains. In fact this sale has been so arranged and carefully planned that our past sales will look insignificant.
